He has also starred in 6 comedy specials for networks such as Netflix, Showtime and Comedy Central.

Maniscalco's comedic prowess extends far beyond the stand-up stage, seamlessly translating his talents into film, television, and podcasting. His new series, Bookie, co-produced with the legendary Chuck Lorre, premiered on Max in November 2023 and has already been renewed for a second season. The show follows a veteran bookie navigating the impending legalization of sports gambling and the evolving culture that bounces him around Los Angeles. On the big screen, Maniscalco appears in a range of projects including John Krasinski's family-friendly film IF, which combines live action and animation; the comedy-drama Unfrosted, written, produced and directed by Jerry Seinfeld; the animated hit The Super Mario Bros. Movie; the Neil Bogart biopic Spinning Gold; and the dramedy Somewhere in Queens with Ray Romano and Laurie Metcalf. Additionally, Maniscalco has appeared in Martin Scorsese's The Irishman and Peter Farrelly's Oscar-winning Green Book.

In addition to his work in television and stand-up, Maniscalco currently hosts The Pete and Sebastian Show with his hilarious co-host, Pete Correale. The podcast is available on all major platforms. Maniscalco is also an author of the national best-selling memoir, "Stay Hungry," an inspiring, honest, and uproarious collection of essays that traces his career from the trials and tribulations – to reaching the pinnacles of comedy success.
